ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The 1984 Uniform Crime Report for the State of Alaska was compiled from data submitted to the Department of Public Safety from twenty-two law enforcement agencies within Alaska. The excellent cooperation offered the Department of Public Safety by the Chiefs of Police and agency heads is gratefully acknowledged.

Special appreciation is extended to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Uniform Crime Reporting Section for the assistance provided to the Alaska program.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING PROGRAM SUMMARY

The major source of data used to measure the trend and distribution of crime in Alaska is the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program. Under this program, monthly crime report data is collected from local law enforcement agencies statewide and used to measure the level of criminal activity within the state. Seven offense categories, selected because of their seriousness and frequency, have been defined as crime index offenses. The offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault comprise the violent crimes. The offenses of burglary, larceny/theft, and motor vehicle theft comprise the property crimes.

The UCR Program was established in 1930 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) when the need was recognized for crime statistics through which they could gain a basic understanding of the nature and scope of the nation's crime problem. The FBI took over the responsibility of receiving, tabulating and publishing the crime statistics which are voluntarily submitted by police agencies.

The UCR statistics represent the basis for public awareness of crime and are the major source for a statistical understanding of the local and national crime problem.

The statistics are issued annually during the month of August by the FBI in the publication, Crime in the United States.

The Department of Public Safety was delegated the responsibility for the Alaska Uniform Crime statistical program effective June 1, 1982. This program is responsible for accumulating and publishing the statewide crime in Alaska statistics for most major law enforcement agencies within Alaska.

The crime clock should be viewed with care. Being the most aggregate representation of UCR data, it is designed to convey the annual reported crime experience by showing the relative frequency of occurrence of the Index Offenses. This mode of display should not be taken to imply a regularity in the commission of the Part I Offenses; rather, it represents the annual ratio of crime to fixed time intervals.

CRIME AND POULATION IN ALASKA

The basic measurements used for crime statistics are the number of Part I crimes per population base. This crime index rate is the number of incidents or crimes per 100,000 inhabitants. Table I is a comparison of the total Part I crimes and rates for Alaska for the period 1980 through 1984. Table II shows the percentage of changes between 1983 and 1984 in the number of Part I crimes and in the crime index rate. Figure I is a graphical representation of the population growth, total Part I crimes and the total crime rate for Alaska for the 1980 through 1984 time period.

LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS KILLED OR ASSAULTED

NATIONWIDE

During 1984, 72 sworn law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty--the lowest number since 1968 when 64 officers were killed.

A total of 60,153 law enforcement officers were assaulted in 1984. On the average, for every 100 officers, 16.2 were assaulted and 5.4 suffered personal injuries as a result of assaults.

ALASKA

One law enforcement officer was killed and 171 were assaulted in Alaska during 1984. This is down 16% compared to 204 officers assaulted in 1983. The majority of assaults occurred when officers were responding to disturbance calls. Of the officers assaulted, 29 (20%) sustained personal injury, primarily from hands, fists or feet of the assailant. Most assaults occurred to officers assigned to one-man vehicles, who were either alone or assisting other officers. Ninety-seven percent of police assailants were cleared by arrest.
